1. The pseudo passive marker □□□

The verbal message which is produced and perceived by a human has to be in a linear order; therefore, the ordering of components which make up a sentence, though it varies from language to language, is a significant determinant of meaning. Part of the meaning which is conveyed by the ordering of components in a sentence is the speaker's viewpoint. In English, the tendency is to look at an event from the viewpoint of the actor or doer. This is called an 'active voice'. When a sentence begins with a noun phrase which is not the doer of the verb, it is said to be in a 'passive voice'. This change of perspective is marked by the presence of the verb 'be' and the use of the past participial form of the verb.

Active voice: A pickpocket stole my wallet.
Passive voice: My wallet was stolen (by a pickpocket).

In Thai, the change of perspective usually does not change the form of the verb. However, if the action implies an adverse effect on the subject, the word □□□ is added. The word □□□ itself means 'to undergo, to be affected by, to suffer'.

Active voice: □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□
Passive voice: □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□

Adversative verbs are verbs such as:

□□	to beat, to spank	□□□□□□□	to punish
□□	to scold	□□□□□□□	to reprimand
□□□	to kill	□□□	to shoot

However, the use of □□□ has been expanded and the word is added to many verbs which are not in the adversative group. This can affect the translation of passive sentences from English into Thai.

Exercise 1

"The Special Forces are built on the ability of assigned personnel. Though you must learn and train both mind and body to be strong and ready for any situation."

General Arthit Kumlung-ek
(Former Supreme Commander, Royal Thai Armed Forces/Commander in-Chief, Royal Thai Army)

"Special Forces are …the strategy saving force of the Commander."

General Sundara Kongsompongsa

(Former Commanding General, Special Warfare Command, Royal Thai Army)

"When training hard, you sweat a lot, but during combat you will loose less blood. This is a fact. The Second SF Division has the opportunity to conduct a joint exercise with the US SF and exchange experiences which will be an advantage for us in the future."

MG. Kajon Ramanwong
(Former Commander, 2nd Div. RTASF)

Application Activities
Module 4 Lesson 4

Activity 1
Imagine that your entire team is taking part in a joint training somewhere in the northeast of Thailand. With the help of your instructor, prepare to introduce yourself as a team member. Go to the front of the class and introduce yourself. Mention your name, rank, and specialty or position within your team.

Example: [illegible]

Activity 2
Talk to your partner about the most recent training that you participated in. Ask your instructor for help. Include the following in your information:

Activity 3
Speaking Preparation

Prepare a presentation in which you act out the role of the mission instructor. You demonstrate to the class how to prepare for a specific military mission. Talk as if you were giving a briefing about the purpose of the mission, the necessary equipment, the necessary training and the location of the mission. When you are finished, ask the class if they have any questions and be prepared to answer and explain as if you were training the rest of the students.
